Hello Everyone. Just sitting down to write about “missionary work” and realized that his article will be published on Sunday, Mother’s Day. So instead of inviting, requesting, suggesting, proposing, encouraging or persuading the fellowship toward one of the various opportunities we have to reach out to the lost, I want to take the opportunity to thank one of the most influential members of any society around the world, in any culture or species, Mother. Personally, I am always confident that my mother’s heart has, is and always will be for her family first. I am anything but famous to the world or anyone for that matter, but she is my biggest fan. In everything she does and says, I know I am the most important person to her. She answers the phone every single time I call and is always there to help me with anything I need. She makes me feel that I am her first priority even though she has many other family members that feel the same because she truly loves us all so deeply and would sacrifice anything for any one of us. My mother has the heart of a missionary for her family first. This is such a great example of how to spread the gospel. In light of the disintegration of the family structure in the world today, our family shines like a beacon to the lost world because of my mother’s love. Consider the greatest missionary there ever was, he had a famous mother named Mary. Please take time today to recognize all the ways your mother has redeemed you with her relentless love and affection no matter the circumstance. And better yet, tell her what you think.

Happy Mother’s Day!

SHEPHERDS' CORNER

Take the Time

"Maaaaahm!"

The little boy's mother came running down the hall and into the boy's room thinking that after a cry like that, he must have somehow hurt himself. Toys were strewn all over the room, the TV that was used for the boy's video games had nothing on the screen but static. As she came barreling into the room, there he sat, right in the middle of all that mess.

"What, Tommy?" The mother cried, as she approached him. "What's wrong?"

"I don't have anything to do!"

She stood there open mouthed and flabbergasted. Her shoulders dropped as she looked around the room in wonderment and thought to herself, 'If I had nothing but time, and all this stuff, I'd be ...' She stopped in mid-thought, looking at her young son's bookshelf. Not a book was out of place and on the top shelf was his Bible – untouched. She smiled and finished her thought, '... I'd be distracted from what's really important.'

Tommy was watching the smile grow on his mother's face. She walked to his bookshelf, grabbed his Bible and said, "C'mon, Tommy. Let's go read for a while."

When they were settled comfortably on the couch with some milk and cookies, Tommy's mother asked, "What's your favorite time of year?"

"Christmas!" Was the youngster's immediate and excited answer.

"I thought so. Let's read about how Christmas came about."

When his mother opened the book, Tommy smiled and looked at the picture drawn of an angel talking to a young woman, and she started to read, "This is the story of Jesus and the first of his followers. It began nearly two thousand years ago in a little town called Nazareth ..."

Take the time—especially during these times of "sheltering-at-home"—to get into God's word. No matter how much you think you know, there's always more to learn, and by continuing to stay close to God, we can only be blessed by his comforting words. We really have plenty to do – when there's nothing to do.

For this reason I bow my knees before the Father, from whom every family in heaven and on earth derives its name, that He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened with power through His Spirit in the inner man, so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; and that you, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all the saints what is the breadth and length and height and depth, and to know the love of Christ which surpasses knowledge, that you may be filled up to all the fullness of God. (Eph. 3:14-19)

Be blessed,
Your Shepherds

My Proverbs 31 Woman

10 Who can find a confident, kind-hearted virtuous woman? for her price is far above anything this world can offer.

11 Her husband loves her with his whole heart, showing his love through service, pre-planning their dates, and still looking at her like when they were dating.

12 And she loves him with her whole heart, forgiving him of his faults, encouraging his talents, and always remembering he is a son of God.

13 During the day she googles how to get stains out of her daughter's brand new jeans, wipes the toddler's tray for the 50th time, and balances the budget.

14 She runs errands, gets kids to their doctor's appointments, and goes food shopping; sometimes she even gets organic hummus to go with the Doritos she also bought.

15 During the nights, when she just wants to curl up in bed and sleep, she packs lunches for tomorrow, irons clothes for tomorrow's workday, and wonders how long her eldest will continue to call her "Mommy;" she also remembers to put the clothes to donate in the trunk of her car so she doesn't forget it (again).

16 She works hard to multiply what life gives her so that it is enough and more for her family; she is a wise steward of her resources.

17 She is strong and uses her strength to give voice to the voiceless in her community.

18 She doesn't waste her time or emotional energy comparing her life to others': Pinterest does not define her self-worth.

19 She takes time for self-care, enjoying hobbies that enrich and beautify her family's home and which create space for even mom to make mistakes, learn, and grow.

20 She recognizes the abundance of her blessings – most of the time – and generously shares her talents, compassion, and material resources with others.

21 She uses her education to bless her family: her husband and children support her continued education.

22 She is wise in how she talks about her body; she knows little ears will hear and sometimes mimic body shaming feelings or talk.

23 Her husband talks respectfully about her and she him, and neither uses each other as the punchline of a joke – and everyone they know knows that.

24 She works hard with her hands, her head, and her heart to bless her family and others; she has a "village" she can call on in times of need.

25 Her countenance radiates strength and goodness; and she is striving to allow her faith to overcome her fears of the future.

26 It's easy for her to give compliments; and she repents when she realizes she's said something unkind about another.

27 She keeps her children and husband close to her heart, and knows when to work and when to play.

28 She watches her children grow up, and regardless of the paths they choose, they know she loves them; her husband appreciates all that she has done to nurture their children and tells her that often.

29 There are many different ways to be a virtuous woman, and you're one of them.

30 Being #ontrend and staying out of pictures because your hair/makeup/outfit doesn't look the best is lame and you know this: it's a woman who is trying her best to keep the commandments of the Lord and repenting often who truly has joy.

31 When you see a good woman, speak it; we rise by lifting others
